SOCIETY WEDDING IN OLD AUGUSTA
BRILLIANT EVENT AT MONTGOMERY HALL, THE PECK HOMESTEAD THE CEREMONY ON THE LAW.
THE CHIEF ACTORS ON A RAISED DAIS AND THE THONG OF FRIENDS AROUND IT --THE STONEWALL BAND DISCOURSED SWEET MUSIC.

STAUNTON, VA.---19 October ---The wedding of Miss Frances Griswold Peck to Dr. George Alsop Sprinkel, Jr., which has been looked forward to with much interest by the society set of Staunton, took place on 16th October at half-past four o'clock at Montgomery Hall, the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dwight Peck, and was the most brilliant event that has taken place in Staunton for many years.

The ceremony was on the law on a dais, which was surrounded by beautiful trees as a background. An aisle had been formed from the house to the dais, through which the two families and the bridal party passed to the dais the invited guests standing outside of the ribbons.

The Stonewall Brigade Band orchestra was seated on the veranda behind the vines and played many beautiful selections before and after the wedding.

THE CEREMONY

At the appointed hour the bridal party proceeded.

These took their stand at the right and left of the dais, the representatives of the Peck family going to the left and the Sprinkel family to the right. Then came Rev. A. M. Fraser, D. D. of the First Presbyterian Church of this city, who performed the ceremony in a very impressive manner. Next came the groom, Dr. George Alsop Sprinkel Jr. with his brother, Frederick Sprinkel, who acted as best man. They stood at the right of the dais.

Following them came the ushers, two and two, Messrs A. W. Blackley, F. W. Bell, Joseph S. Denny, Fielding L. Olivier, J. C. Latham and Louis Tucker Peck, who separated to the left and right of the dais.

Miss Jennie Mae Peck, sister of the bride, who acted as maid of honor, directly preceded the bride with her father, Henry Dwight Peck, and took her stand to the left of the dais. At the dais the bride met the groom, who led her to the altar, followed by the bridal party, who formed a semi-circle around them.

Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party returned to the mansion, where the bridal couple, supported by the two families, received the congratulations of the guests in the drawing rooms, which had been beautifully decorated for the occasion.

THE RECEPTION

During the reception salads, ice cream, cake and coffee were served.

At the close of the reception the bridal party repaired to the dining-hall and were seated at a table especially prepared for them. The table was beautifully arranged and the tableau which was presented as they sat at the tables was a very lovely one.

The bride was handsomely gowned in peau de neige, trimmed with point duchess lace, with veil and carried bride's roses.

The lace which she wore is an heirloom and has been worn by all the brides in the family. The veil which was caught up with orange blossoms, was held in place by a handsome pearl pin, a gift of the bride's godmother. The groom and best man were dressed in Prince Albert coats and dark trousers.

The ushers wore Prince Albert coats, dark trousers and carried silk hats.

VISITING GUESTS

The guests from a distance were: Mrs. Horace Sill Peck of Providence, Rhode Island; Mrs. John Sedgwick Peck of Pittsburg, Pennsylvania; Miss Lillian Arthur of Washington DC; Miss Sallie Conrad Fauntleroy of Frederick, Maryland; Dr. George Alsop Sprinkel Senior, Frederick Sprinkel and J. C. Latham of Culpeper, Virginia.

The bridal pair left on the Chesapeake and Ohio vestibuled train for a tour through the northern cities.
